KENYA NATIONAL PARKS AND RESERVES

SAMBURU, BUFFALO SPRINGS AND SHABA RESERVES

Approximately 210 miles due north of Nairobi, past the equator and at the onset of the vast desert scrub area lie these three reserves. Watered by the permanent River Uaso Nyiro (pronounced Washeneru) it is an oasis supporting much wildlife. The Oryx, Grevy's Zebra, Somali Blue Ostrich and the beautiful Reticulated Giraffe, are indigenous to this region. The diminutive Dik Dik, Lesser Kudu and Gerenuk Gazelle are more prominently seen here than in other parks.

ABERDARES N.P. AND MT. KENYA

About two hours from Nairobi are the National Parks of Mt. Kenya and the Aberdare Mountains. The Aberdares are a mixture of high peaks, indigenous forest and bamboo thickets. There are two exciting 'Tree Lodges' on the lower slopes both situated in glades overlooking water holes.

Floodlighting illuminates the surrounds of the water holes and Elephant, Rhino, Cape Buffalo, Bushbuck, Giant Forest Hog, Bush Pig, Waterbuck and the rare and elusive Bongo Antelope are often seen from the lodge.

LAKE NAKURU NATIONAL PARK

Just 93 miles northwest of Nairobi is Lake Nakuru, a soda lake famous for its seasonal gatherings of Lesser and Greater Flamingoes by the millions. The park life includes Leopard, Hyena, Hippo, Zebra, Lion, Cape Buffalo, Waterbuck, Reedbuck, various gazelles and the rare Rothschild's Giraffe. It is also a Rhino sanctuary and one of the only places in East Africa you can see White Rhinos.

MASAI MARA GAME RESERVE

An extension of the Serengeti in Tanzania, the Mara is considered Kenya's leading Game Reserve. Its 700 sq. miles of undulating hills and rolling grasslands support a wildlife spectacular all year round. The Mara is host to large prides of Lion, dominated by black-maned males, Cheetah, Leopard, Elephant and herds of Cape Buffalo by the hundreds. You can also see a regular cast of Hyena, Gazelle, Impala, Masai Giraffe, Zebra, Wildebeest along with large Crocodile and Hippo in the Mara River. It is also one of the few places you can still see Black Rhino. Late June to early October is the yearly migration from the Serengeti. There is an unbelievable massing of thousands of Wildebeest, Zebra and Gazelle along with other migrating antelope. You can get a birds-eye view of it all with an optional hot air balloon ride.
